Freelance Graphic Designer January 2012 - Present

I've been working on various freelance graphic design jobs since I left art school in 2012. I take on individual projects that I feel will challenge me and help me grow my skills. Through freelancing, I've been able to work on many different types of design projects including packaging design, web design, logo development, branding, clothing design, and more.

Little Earth Productions Seamstress · June 2020 - September 2020

I took a temporary position at Little Earth Productions this summer as a seamstress making fabric facemasks for a collaboration between Kiya Tomlin and Highmark. I was responsible for sewing as many facemasks as possible in a shift to help them meet their goal of 125,000 masks by September.

Thought Space Designs Lead Designer · January 2012 - May 2018

Full service marketing & design company working remotely with clients across the US. Provides full branding design services, as well as website design/development, fully custom plugin/app design/development, as well as brand consultation and artistic direction.

My Role:

- Lead designer for projects including logo designs, website layouts, print products, promotional materials, and more.
- Front end web development, including coding portions of custom WordPress themes, customizing CSS for WordPress themes, and managing websites (page/content creation) via a WordPress admin panel.
- Webmaster tasks like setting up WordPress plugins including WooCommerce, Ninja Forms, Yoast SEO, iThemes Security, and more.

rue21 Graphic Designer · May 2018 - April 2019

Fast fashion retailer of casual clothing for teens and young adults. Offers trend focused styles at affordable prices both online and in stores for girls and guys.

My Role:

- Create graphic design elements across a variety of channels to illustrate promotions. Channels include the company website, emails, social media, and print.
- Primary focus on creating email layouts for daily promotions.
- Work closely with other departments such as marketing, ecommerce, and copywriting to effectively plan and execute design projects that speak to rue21's diverse customer base.
